DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in-

(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or

(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

Claims 1 – 13 and 15 – 20 are rejected under 35 USC § 102 as being unpatentable over solution provider Liquidation.Com (www.liquidation.com).

Regarding claims 1 – 3 and 10 – 11, Liquidation.com discloses that its “open technology platform integrates multiple vertical exchanges and brick-and-mortar enterprises into a single global surplus network of buyers and sellers, lowering transaction costs and achieving superior liquidity.” Liquidation.Com’s online surplus exchange links qualified convenience of our web site.

Liquidation.Com's method and system allows registered buyers and sellers to participate in the liquidation auctions; collects information from seller relating to the goods; classifies goods; protects seller's sales channels by listing auctions anonymously and also by restricting auctions to specific buyers or areas; conducts background checks on all users to verify their business and their ability to conduct surplus transactions; provides search engine to buyers to find specific auctions. In addition, Liquidation.Com provides buyers the ability to monitor open bids.

Regarding claims 4 and 12, Liquidation.Com system and method allows sellers to list their auction on Liquidation.Com marketplace. Sellers are required to enter their username and password (this service is only available to registered users), and, fill out the forms for the posting. Liquidation.Com allows bidders to ask you questions about the auction. When an interested bidder poses a question regarding seller's auction listing, seller will automatically receive an e-mail message, along with a link to the answer form. Seller's answers to these questions are posted along with the auction.

Regarding claims 5 – 6 and 15 – 18, Liquidation.Com discloses that it conducts background checks on all users to verify users' business and their ability to conduct surplus transactions. Liquidation.Com does not disclose how it conducts background checks on its users. It is, however, well known that businesses perform background checks manually commercial loans, rental agreement) and/or automatically (car loan application, store credit card issuance) on the entities they want to conduct business with, to ensure their stability and financial condition. For example, businesses may use publicly available information (SEC filings, quarterly earnings report, news papers, magazines, county records etc.), buy reports from providers of business information like Dunn & Bradstreet, or, use privately held information (history data acquired while working with the entity). Therefore it is inherent that Liquidation.Com has system and method it uses verify buyer information using publicly available data, and/or, using privately held data to verify their ability to conduct surplus transactions.

Regarding claims 7, Liquidation.Com discloses that "Liquidation.com has solved the problem of alerting your normal sales channels when you are selling surplus goods at a discount. Auctions are listed anonymously and can be restricted to specific buyers or areas to ensure your protection."

Regarding claims 8 – 9 and 19 – 20, Liquidation.com discloses that its "open technology platform integrates multiple vertical exchanges and brick-and-mortar enterprises into a single global surplus network of buyers and sellers, lowering transaction costs and achieving superior liquidity." Liquidation.Com's online surplus exchange links qualified convenience of our web site.

Liquidation.Com's online surplus exchange links qualified convenience of our web site. Liquidation.Com's method and system allows registered buyers and sellers to participate in the liquidation auctions; collects information from seller relating to the goods; classify goods; protects seller's sales channels by listing auctions anonymously and also by restricting auctions to specific buyers or areas; conducts background checks on all users to verify their business and their ability to conduct surplus transactions; provides search engine to buyers to find specific auctions. In addition, Liquidation.Com provides buyers the ability to monitor open bids.

Regarding claim 13, Liquidation.Com is an online surplus market solution provider. Therefore, it is inherent that approved buyers access Liquidation.Com's system by way of a public communication network.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 14 is rejected under 35 USC § 103 as being unpatentable over Liquidation.Com in view Metropolitan Regional Information Systems, Inc. hereinafter known as MRIS.

Regarding claim 14, Liquidation.Com does not disclose providing private communications network. However, MRIS has a system exclusively designed for Real Estate Brokers, Salespersons and Appraisers. MRIS subscribers can access the system using the internet, or, their private network (user dials into MRIS system using Realtor Workstation provided by MRIS). Therefore, at the time of the invention, it is obvious to a person with ordinary skill in the art to modify Liquidation.Com as taught by MRIS by restricting users to access the network through their private network to further restrict access to the information to the selected users.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

1. Information On Liquidation.Com
2. How To Use Liquidation.Com
3. Sample of Auction Search at Liquidation.Com
4. Information On MRIS
